

DANIEL ANGARITA

Product Designer.

A passionate Colombian designer specializing in furniture design, micro-architecture, design for meaning, and art direction. Over the years, he has participated in various competitions and developed projects that have established his role as a designer, earning recognition for his creativity and innovation.

With over 5 years of experience, he has successfully executed projects for diverse companies, contributing to product design and elevating their brand identities through tools like CMF and storytelling. His expertise includes product visualization, hard goods, soft goods, exhibition spaces, scenography, and designing environments for housing, work, dining, and leisure, all based on forward-thinking concepts.

Proficient in a range of software tools, he creates diverse outcomes and continues to grow through daily exploration of both traditional and emerging technologies like AI.

Rooted in scenario analysis and future needs, his design approach ensures relevant and visionary solutions. With exceptional visual, conceptual, and verbal communication skills, he thrives in collaborative environments, consistently meeting deadlines and goals while staying at the forefront of design innovation.
